Do Not Overlook These

BUHLIG'S BUSINESS ENGLISH

The use of this book in classes connected with large business concerns indicates that Buhlig's Business English is the kind of English used in actual business. If you do not believe that Buhlig's Business English is the most successful work on the subject published, inquire as to what text is used in the high schools of the largest cities in the country.

KNOWLES'S ORAL ENGLISH

Committees of English teachers in leading cities who have been working out courses of study in this timely subject say that Knowles's Oral English is the best embodiment of their ideas.

WEBSTER'S ANCIENT HISTORY

If there is nothing inherently wrong in having pupils enjoy their work in history, why not adopt a book which teachers say their "pupils prefer to a novel?"

WEBSTER'S EARLY EUROPEAN HISTORY

This is a new and equally interesting and vital treatment, adapted to the "new history plan."

WELLS AND HART'S GEOMETRY

Incidentally, this happens to meet the requirements of the syllabus exactly, but it is also a good book—good enough to be used in progressive high schools anywhere. It is modern and it is teachable. Like the Wells and Hart Algebra, it gets results.

LIVE OR DEAD LITERATURE?

There are old classics, of course, that will never die. But birth and death are common to literature and humanity. What is live literature, fit to be read in the schools, is not the same yesterday, today, and tomorrow:

SOME NEW CLASSICS

WISTER: THE VIRGINIAN (edited by James F. Hosie).

(A live virile story of American life, which is recognized as an American classic).

LONDON: THE CALL OF THE WILD (edited by Theodore C. Mitchill).

(A classic story of a dog—probably the best dog-story ever written).

REPRESENTATIVE SHORT STORIES (edited by Hart and Perry).

(A mixture of the new and the old; 20 stories; 297 pages).

REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

These books are in the Macmillan Pocket Classics series, which contains about 170 volumes, well edited and durably and attractively bound, in convenient form—at only 25 cents each. Write us for further information, or give us a trial order. For the convenience of our North Carolina patrons, we maintain a stock in Raleigh with the North Carolina School Book Depository, who will give the regular wholesale discounts.
